

Chris Finnemore

Trainer / Presenter / Coach / Training Designer

Has worked with:

- BMW
- Allied Irish Bank
- Unilever
- BskyB
- Dollond & Aitchison

Background

Chris has over ten years experience of working in both Human Resources and Development. He started his career within multi-site retail, and now operates as a consultant specialising in the design and delivery of attitude based learning and performance management interventions.

Expertise

During his career Chris has led interventions across a range of sectors, including retail, banking, and FMCG. He has significant expertise in the development of trainers, and sales executives; of facilitating inspiring visions for project teams, and then managing the project through to completion

Qualifications & Professional Memberships

- BA (Hons.) – Classics, French and Philosophy, University of Durham
- Graduate of Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development – Solihull College
- Master Practitioner of NLP – John Seymour Associates
- Qualified 'Meta-Coach' – Michael Hall

Interests

To unwind Chris enjoys a range of sports, including swimming, hill walking running, skiing and rugby. He is a keen gardener, and aims to provide all of his family's vegetables from his allotment in Bristol.